

Wild Cave Tour Information

Meet at the Stock Creek Recreational Area, park in the visitor's lot, and walk to the red barn

- Guests must arrive 15 minutes before the program starts. This allows guests to get their gear properly fitted and does not take away time from the main program.
- Both caves are wild, meaning there will be uneven, wet, and muddy terrain. There are no handrails or overhead lights. Guests will be required to crawl around in both caves, but the degree of which is dependent on the cave.
- This tour is weather-dependent, meaning if there is any amount of rain, the tour may be cancelled. This is due to hypothermia concerns while inside of the cave.
- Minors under the age of 18 MUST be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.
- Signed waivers will be required before entry into the caves. All minors must have a signed waiver by a parent or legal guardian prior to entry.

The park will provide:

Gloves
Knee pads
Helmet
Head Lamp

The guest should bring:

Sturdy, close-toed shoes are REQUIRED.
Appropriate clothing for weather that is 52-54°F. Pants and a long-sleeved shirt or jacket are recommended.
Water for the hike.

Bolling Cave: ~2.5 hours: There is a 0.5 m hike to the cave (1.0 mile round trip, not including the cave). The hike can be strenuous. Switchbacks and short breaks are provided, but guests must be comfortable with hiking mountainous terrain. The rooms overall are as big as the main office for comparison, but there IS crawling (3 ft. high space. No belly crawling required, but depending on a guest's height/capabilities, it may be necessary to fit through). The hardest part of this trip is getting to the cave. Guests are strongly encouraged to bring water for the hike up. Max is 15 guests due to guide-to-guests ratio, guests' safety, and for the cave's health. Ages 10 and up.

Pannell Cave: ~1 hour 45 minutes: Guests are transported to the cave by van. Though there is no intense hiking involved, guests will be required to cross a hill (both down and up) with very loose rocks. There is a mandatory belly-crawl in the beginning of the tour that allows guests to move onto the next part of the cave. As it is in the beginning, there is no skipping it. It is NOT a tubular crawl (low ceiling ~3 ft., open on the sides). There is another section where guests will be required to walk on a narrow-ledged path with a hand rope for guide. Max is 12 guests: NO EXCEPTIONS due to transportation, guide-to-guests ratio, guests' safety, and for the cave's health. Ages 10 and up.
